

National Weather Association Speaker Release & Recording Authorization

The National Weather Association (NWA) is very pleased that you have volunteered to present a talk at the 37th Annual Meeting in Madison, Wisconsin. In an effort to increase association services for our members, we will be digitally recording presentations and making them available for viewing via the Internet. We would certainly like to offer your presentation but do need your permission to do so. If you would like to participate as a recorded speaker, please carefully review the following and provide the requested information and signature. Please note that you are under no obligation of any type to participate as a recorded speaker. If you decide to not provide this authorization, your presentation simply will not be recorded.

I, the undersigned, hereby grant to the NWA and its supplier MultiView, Inc., the right to audio record my presentation to the NWS Annual Meeting, and the right to use my presentation and associated written materials (e.g., PowerPoint slides) in event-based products for distribution in any media format on behalf of the NWA. The NWA may use some or all of the components of my presentation, either in whole or in part, synchronized or not.

Additionally, I grant to the NWA the right to provide a live streaming of my presentation.

I represent that I have obtained all necessary permissions to incorporate third-party materials into my presentation.

I grant to the NWA a non-exclusive, royalty-free perpetual license to record and distribute my presentation; however, my presentation may not be used to convey endorsement or support of the NWA without my further permission. I understand that the NWA may charge a fee in connection with its use of the presentation and I make no claim to any such fees.
